

The long anticipated recording by the family group, The Beelers, will be available at NQC in Louisville, Kentucky next week. The recording took place at BSA World Records and was produced by Glen Bates. The title, "Follow The Road", fits well with the groups style of ministry. The spiritual component of their music is always front and center, as has been experienced by all the fans that attend their concerts.

This is The Beelers second CD and with the first one having good charting success in the last few months, this project is expected to move quickly to radio airplay. Glen Bates is well known for his songwriting and recording production ability.

Whenever Glen is talking about The Beelers and this new project his excitement is contagious. "I love working with this family group. They are so talented and put so much energy and enthusiasm into their singing. Their passion to touch hurting people is evident in every note they sing."
